Gedichte einer Lebenden

Kapitel 14: M&M - Remain

You're talking to me about the weather and the sun shines in your eyes

You're thinking about the world and yourself how to save your silly life

You're acting like the more you move the more can be improved in your life

You're talking, almost influencing me and I'm listening to you I'm getting happy, also blue because it is about our lives

But I know, that one day
You have to say the final words I know you have to go away but you know you leave me hurted

But even though your lips will leave your kisses will remain

And even though
your voice is gone your words will still remain

And even though
your eyes are gone your gaze, it will remain

And even though
your hands are gone their touches will remain

your hair is gone the feeling will remain

And even though
you're far away your smell will always stay

your touches will remain your hair will still be the same my picture of you will always remain until you come back again
