

Scenarios

K-Pop Scenarios

Von _Raion_

Kapitel 15: When they ask you to get married (Request by bbvip4ever)

TOP:

You two were at his home watching TV when he started to talk to you. "I have to tell you something. You know. There was always a woman beside you I loved so much. She was everything for me" You couldn't believe what you were hearing. Was he really telling you that he had a other woman while you two were in a relationship. Angrily you stood up. "I don't wanna hear that." "Wait a second" He tried to explain. "No! I don't wanna hear about your other woman which is so much better than me that you love her so much more than me." You shout at him with tears in your eyes. How could he did that to you? When you were about to leave he stopped you and got on his knees in front of you. Out of his pocket he took a jewelry box and opened it. Inside was the most beautiful ring you ever have seen. "What are you doing?" You asked him still angry. Did he really thought he could propose to you after telling you that he had a other woman? "The woman who was the most important one to me all my life long is my mom. But now you became the most important woman to me who with I wanna spent the rest of my life with. Please marry me."

G-Dragon:

He was ignoring your text messages and calls. What was wrong with him. He treated you like nothing. In the morning he even started a fight about something stupid. You were so angry at him that you decided to move out and were about to pack your suitcase. Suddenly he came home and saw you. "What are you doing?" "I'm leaving!" "You can't" He told you bossy. "Why?" "I brought red wine and I was about to cook for you." You were surprised. Did he want to made up again? "So you feel sorry for being like an ass lately?" "No!" What? How dare he said that to your face. You angrily continued to pack your suitcase. "I was mean to you on purpose." "What? Why?" He grinned at you. "Because if you really hate me now then you will really love me in a moment." He put away the bottle of red wine and took something out of his pocket. He knelt down and present you the ring. "Will you marry me?"

Daesung:

Today Daesung was on a radio show and he told you that you definitely had to listen to it. Actually you were supposed to meet up with some of your friends, so you just invited them to your place so you could listen to the radio show. "Hello. I'm Daesung." He started. "Today I have prepared some special event. It's something from my friend who wants to give this to his girlfriend. The two of them met up four years ago at a park where they got to know each other. They dated for a time and started a relationship. Even they had to go through many hardships because he was not really often at home and they couldn't meet up often, she was always on his side and supported him. He wants to thank her for that." Even he said that it was a friend, you knew that he was talking about you two. He started to sing a beautiful song, which expressed his feelings for you. After he ended the song he started to talk again. "That guy really loves that girl and wants to be with her forever, so this guy wants to ask her if she wants that too and if she wants to marry him."

Taeyang:

After a four hour ride with Taeyang in his car, you two arrived at a beautiful hill with a church and a view to the sea. Together you went inside the church, which he wanted to show you so badly. It was really the most beautiful church you have ever seen. "Do you like it?" He asked you and you nodded. You know that Taeyang really was close to god and even you didn't really wanted to come with him to a church, you did it for him. He walked with you in front of the altar and turned you around so you could see the entrance. "You have to see it like this." He said and you started to wonder why the both of you were here. "What are we doing here?" He smiled at you and walked in front of you, where he got on his knees. "I searched so long for the right place so please tell me that this is the one. Here, will you marry me?"

Seungri:

As agreed with Seungri you met up at a little restaurant. You wanted to surprise him and came a little earlier. When you walked into the restaurant you already could see Seungri, but he wasn't alone. A beautiful lady was standing close to him and they seemed to talk about something interesting. For your fancy it was too close. You weren't really surprised about the thing you saw. Seungri was a playboy and he was really famous with girls. When the two separated, you walked to the girl and looked at her with a fierce glance. "Listen. Don't come ever close to Seungri again." The girl looked at you with a puzzled expression. "And you are?" She asked you. "I'm his girlfriend." "Oh!!" The girl seemed surprised. "Seungri!!! It's too late to hide it. She's already here." She suddenly shouted. You walked to him angrily and he seemed to be a little bit scared of you because of your expression. "Why are you already here?" "What? Should I've come later so you could have some more time with your new girl?" This was way too much. "I hate you." You tried to walk away but he stopped you. "My new girl? The only one for me is you. You totally got me wrong. I love you and only you. It should be a surprise. When we would be about to eat she would bring the ring." He showed you the ring he was talking about. It was a proposal ring. "Do you still hate me so that you don't wanna marry me?"