

Since a week I'm dead

Since a week

Since a week I'm dead.
I died when you left.
What was left is only a shell of myself.
Filled by sorrow, desperation and pain.
You have to go I know that.
But I wish I had more time with you.

Tell me,
do you know why the sunset is red?
I wonder if this colour of light...
can reach you now.
Wherever you're now.
I hope it.

It's strange.
Because I'm aware of this all the time.
But only now I understand.
Why I had feeling
like I had a heart around you.
Do you know it, too?

Tell me,
do you know why the sunset is red?
I wonder if this colour of light...
can reach you now.
Wherever you're now.
I hope it.

I was too cowardly to tell you.
And now I'm sitting here alone.
Without you.
And I know.
It was me.
Who let you go.

Tell me,
do you know why the sunset is red?
I wonder if this colour of light...
can reach you now.
Wherever you're now.
I hope it.

What I was able to do then?
Because your decision was final.
And I know, that it was necessary.
Correct.
However, it doesn't help me to get over the pain.
Because I died if you left.

Tell me,
do you know why the sunset is red?
I wonder if this colour of light...
can reach you now.
Wherever you're now.
I hope it.

The place beside me is free.
Because you're gone.
And with you my heart, too.

Tell me,
do you know why the sunset is red?
I wonder if this colour of light...
can reach you now.
Wherever you're now.
I hope it.

Because I love you.
