

Take me home

Von Thaliel

Disclaimer: The original Text "Drive you home" is a song by Garbage. CCS and its characters belong to CLAMP.

Clow: "It's funny how, even now, you still support me after all the things that I've done."

Yue: "You're so good to me. Waiting patiently."

Clow: "And isn't it sad that you still have to ask if I care? I never said I was perfect. But I can take you home. I'm walking shells tonight."

Yue: "I can't do well tonight."

Clow: "And you can't say a word cause I leap down your throat, so uptight am I. I never said I was perfect. But I can take you home."

Yue: "I got down on myself. Working too hard. Hunting miles after death, trying to beat down the thoughts in my head."

Clow: "What a mess I've made. Sure we all make mistakes..."

Yue: "But that seemed me so large! Did you think I'm immune to the pain?"

Clow: "I'm walking shells tonight."

Yue: "I can't do well tonight."

Clow: "And you can't say a word cause I leap down your throat, so uptight am I."

Yue: "I'm praying for a miracle. But I won't hold my breath."

Clow: "I never said I was perfect."

Yue: "But can you take me home?"

A/N: This may not be a "Real" songfic. I just wanted to show how well the text suits the situation between Yue and Clow.